First, you need to unlock your Android phone and navigate to the home screen. From here, swipe left and right until you locate the screen with icons. If you cannot locate the screen, long press it to bring up the menu bar. Click "Edit page" to enter edit mode. Then, press and drag the screen containing the icons to be deleted and tap "OK." How Do I Get Rid of Icons on My Home Screen? There are several ways to delete icons from your home screen. Generally, the Google Play Store adds shortcuts to your home screen automatically when you install apps. To remove these shortcuts, you'll want to uncheck the box to stop Android from adding new shortcuts to the Home screen. However, if you want to keep some icons, it's possible to turn off this feature in the settings menu. If you want to remove icons on your Android device, you can swipe through several pages of the Home screen. Then, swipe right or left until you find the icon that you want to remove. However, if you'd like to delete an app, you can't delete it if it has data stored on it. Instead, you need to uninstall the app first. Otherwise, the app won't be removed from your home screen - it will still remain in your App Drawer. The other way to get rid of icons from your home screen on Android is to create application folders for your favorite websites and apps. By doing so, you can create an organized home screen with fewer apps. As long as you have a large enough storage capacity, you can make use of the folders to organize apps. You'll also have more space to save important files. It's easy to get rid of useless icons from your home screen on Android. How Do I Get Rid of Unwanted Icons? If you are wondering how to get rid of unwanted icons from Android, you will find a few ways to do so. You can either delete the icon from your home screen, app screen, or even the trash icon. The way in which you do this may vary based on the manufacturer of your phone. Here are the most common ways to delete icons on Android: READ ALSO: How Do I Download Android Pie?One of the simplest ways to get rid of an icon is to drag it to the left or right side of the screen and hold it down for a few seconds. If you do not want it in the 'Delete' folder, you can move it to another screen. The next step is to drag the icon from the screen to another folder. There are applications for this purpose in the Play store. To find the best one, just type the relevant query in the search bar and go through the comments. There are many applications for this purpose and you can find the one that best suits your needs. Another way to get rid of icon-aggressive applications on Android is to uninstall them. While removing app icons from the Home screen won't delete the apps themselves, it will hide their icon from the App Drawer. However, the good news is that it is possible to delete an icon from your Home screen without damaging the app itself. This is especially helpful if you have many icons cluttering your screen. How Do I Delete My Icons on My Phone? If you want to remove an app icon from your home screen, you can easily do it in a few simple steps. First, unlock your Android phone. From the home screen, swipe left and right to locate the screen that contains the icons. If you can't find the screen with the icons, you can long-press it to bring up a menu bar. Select "Edit page" from the menu, and then press and drag the screen to remove the icons. Finally, tap "OK" to remove the icons. You can also delete icons from your Android phone by using a third-party launcher such as Nova launcher. Using a third-party launcher will allow you to easily remove an app icon without affecting the app. The best way to remove an app icon is to swipe through multiple Home screen pages until you locate the icon you wish to delete. Remember that icons on your phone are shortcuts to other apps, so you can't delete them directly. However, you can remove their associated data and information. How Do I Clear My Android Home Screen? If you want to clear up the clutter on your Android home screen, you can delete apps and widgets that you do not use. Android has a convenient way to delete icons from your home screen. You simply need to hold down the icon you wish to remove and choose "Remove" or "Trash". Note that this will not delete the App, but only its shortcut. To delete multiple apps, repeat the process. READ ALSO: Why Do My Apps Disappear on My Android Phone?To remove an app from your home screen, first go to Settings > Apps. Then, select the app that you want to remove and tap "Uninstall." Then, you can delete the icon from the menu. Keep in mind that some malicious apps can reinstall their icons from the menu after you uninstall them. In order to avoid this, make sure you follow the instructions given by Izzy in his answer. The Android Home screen is flexible enough to accommodate any layout. Shortcuts are arranged in a grid based on their function. To rearrange them, simply drag them around on the screen until they appear where you want them. If you don't want to rearrange icons on the home screen, you can create folders for them and group them by function. If you're still unhappy with the placement of your shortcuts, you can always drag them to a new location. If you're not a fan of the home screen layout on your Samsung device, there's an easy way to disable it. The good news is that it's not as hard as you might think, and you don't even have to visit the company's offices to do it! However, you should keep in mind that the home screen layout will prevent you from uninstalling apps or widgets. Here are some ways to disable it. First, find the Home icon at the bottom-center of your display. Tap it to access your Home screen. To delete a specific page, simply pinch in and tap the Delete icon. You'll notice that you've selected a different Home screen. If you're not happy with the current one, simply drag the screen to a new one. If you'd like to remove an entire home screen, you can do this too. However, make sure you save your recent changes to the Home screen after doing this. When you're ready to lock the home screen layout, select the "Lock Home Screen" option. This feature has been around since Android Pie, but Samsung doesn't offer it by default. OEM skins and other launchers include this option. This feature prevents you from accidentally deleting an app or changing the layout of the entire device. When you unlock the home screen layout, you can move widgets and icons on the home screen, which is important if you want to prevent someone from messing with it. How Do You Clean Apps on Android? If you're frustrated with the number of icons on your home screen, you can delete them using the 'Remove Icons' feature in your Android handset. To do this, go to the Home screen and swipe left and right to find the icon or icons you'd like to remove. You can also long press on a screen to bring up the menu bar. Tap on 'Edit page' and select the option to remove the icons. Once you've done this, tap "OK" to remove them. Once you've done this, you can then drag the icon to the Trash can. Alternatively, you can move it to another Home screen. In either case, the icon will no longer be on your main Home screen. The next step is to choose a different home screen to install the app. Once the icon is gone, you can then remove the app and use it elsewhere on your phone. If you're using Android 4.0 or higher, you can also go into the settings and delete the app entirely. How Do I Clean up My Android Apps? Using an Android phone? You might have a problem with extra icons that clutter your home screen. These shortcuts appear on your home screen when you install new applications. However, these shortcuts do not remove the data or other stuff linked to those apps. Here are three ways to delete these icons. Just follow these steps: To remove an icon from your home screen, open the menu of the app that has the icon. Tap the icon and choose "Remove" or "Delete" to remove it. Depending on the menu you're using, you may also be able to trash the entire shortcut screen. Regardless of how you decide to remove a shortcut, you'll be able to re-organize your home screen. If you'd like to disable a specific app, you can also disable the associated icon in the settings. The main reason behind app duplication is user error. Uninstalling the app may leave behind a file, but Android will automatically try to install it from the Play Store. If you disable this option, the icon will appear in the wrong place. To remove an icon from an Android app, you'll need to use a tool called Ionic Uninstaller. Learn More Here: 1.) Android Help Center 2.) Android - Wikipedia 3.) Android Versions 4.)
